Singapore – An International Financial Centre

Singapore's financial services industry is still booming and is actively recruiting international talent.

According to the latest Global Financial Centre Index, Singapore is ranked third only behind London and New York, and the gap between New York and the 3rd-placed city is now the smallest it has ever been. The report also highlighted that Singapore, amidst this difficult climate, is still recruiting financial talent.

Workshop

UCL, in collaboration with Contact Singapore, is organizing a timely finance workshop to bring together experts from the financial services industry in Singapore to present their work and to discuss those career opportunities for PhDs and MScs in Singapore. Find out how Singapore financial institutions are doing and what a finance career in Singapore has in store for you.
